Daily Care

Use a damp microfiber cloth with mild cleaner or dish soap.

Non-abrasive surface sprays can be used. Avoid abrasive powders or products on Polished surfaces. In general, we recommend never using very strong acid or alkali cleaners.

Use a soft, microfiber cloth to clean surfaces

Good Practice

It is always advisable to carry out a preliminary test on a concealed area or unused part of the surface.

It is always good practice to remove all stains from the top promptly, especially particularly difficult stains such as coffee, red wine, juice, etc.

Dried food, batter or paint: Avoid using sharp tools, metal knives or scrapers. Instead, use a plastic scraper or a credit card edge to gently remove the debris.

Ink, markers, or cosmetic pigments: Moisten a microfiber cloth with a small amount of rubbing alcohol. Gently dab the mark and rinse with water.

NOTE: Matte and Textured Surfaces

Premium modern industrial surfaces-such as matte or leathered textures-possess a tactile surface structure to achieve their raw aesthetic. Consequently, they naturally show fingerprints, daily oils and metal rub marks (from pots or jewelry) more easily than high-gloss polished slabs. This is not a permanent stain. Simply clean matte finishes more regularly using a soft cloth and a gentle, non-abrasive cleanser approved for engineered stone.

Tips

For dirt that is difficult to remove with a sponge or microfiber cloth, we recommend using a melamine sponge (commonly called a magic eraser).

Our sintered surfaces are resistant to thermal shock and scratching, however to maintain their appearance over time we recommend using trivets and chopping boards.

AVOID abrasive tools and cleaners. Although surfaces are resistant to scratches, using abrasive tools may dull polished surfaces over time due to microscratches.

AVOID hard and detergents containing hydrofluoric acid and its derivatives. Also avoid detergents containing waxes and / or brighteners.

AVOID Cleaners that contain: Xylene, Toluene, Potassium Hydroxide or Caustic Soda. Paint removers and furniture strippers containing Trichlorethane or Methylene Chloride.

AVOID Cleaners that contain Pine Oil. Without very thorough rinsing, these products can leave a residue behind. This residue then attracts and holds the dirt on the surface, eventually reducing the cleanliness of the surface and it's appearance.
