Inspiration:

The jade culture has a long history, and each piece of beautiful jade is a rare masterpiece of nature. The transparency and whiteness of jade are the most direct expressions of its appearance. The dark green crystals precipitated from the original ore have undergone millions of years of condensation in nature, forming a dragon like shape. Through ink blending on the surface, the white crystals are as transparent as ice crystals, condensing the jade and expressing the nature and nobility of jade culture.

Inspiration:

The fashion art of gray has a deeper meaning in nature. The tense gray background layer of Artus gray and the transition of depth are formed by the changes in different environments during the natural formation of stone. The white stone patterns are freely distributed like clouds, depicting the beauty and fashion originating from nature.
